Dear Axel

I am writing to you following two occasions where I have failed to engage with you on the following dates, Thursday 8th June & Thursday 15th June. The reasons for these visits were following a request received to support you to explore how we might be able to work together to help you to break the cycle of isolation and support you to begin to explore how you might be supported to return to attending school and mixing with young people in social situations.

The challenges in providing this support were discussed at a Team Around the Family meeting on Thursday 22nd June and options such as text messaging, emailing and use of chat applications were all raised, however your parents shared that you would find it difficult to engage with any of these options. During this meeting it was requested that Sharron Barrett Senior Family Intensive Support Worker (who you know) and I undertake a home visit together to meet with you to explore if there would be a way that this work could be possible.

Having discussed this request with Sharron she has agreed to attempt a joint home visit once she returns to work. Unfortunately, at this time I do not have a firm date for this visit, once I have a date for this visit I will ask Ashleigh Williams your Family Intensive Support Worker to inform your parents so that you will know when this visit will take place.

However in the meantime you are able to email me (carl.coughlan@lancashire.gov.uk) Text, WhatsApp or Call me on [redacted] DPA should you wish to make contact.

Many thanks
