See below response from Sam Steed Axel's caseworker.

Sam has not shared any concerns at all, so I am wondering if the risk is lower -you need to speak with Sam.

Sam Steed, Axel and Axel's dad will be unaware that we know about the events on Thursday. We only know as we received the Encompass report from the police.

I am very conscious if this is discussed in the wrong way it will break trust with mum, dad and Axel so please be mindful and I think the best way is that they volunteer the information and if in doubt speak with Sam.

As you can see Axel no longer wishes to attend Acorns, so please be mindful to build that rapport with him so he talks through his concerns with someone.

Many thanks for your time to discuss the issues and please do get in touch if you need more information,

Good morning Maggie,
Axel came to session and engaged well. From what he shared I can let you know that he does not want to return to Acorns to say goodbye. He is looking forward to starting at Presfield and have agreement from Axel to contact them. I am happy for Presfield to have my details. Bw,

It would also be useful if you can liaise with Presfield school- are you happy for me to forward your details to them?

I have already spoken to Presfield school, and I know dad has arranged a meeting with staff tomorrow. It is excellent he is being proactive. The school realise providing Axel with staff he can talk to will reduce the risk -as he is no longer coming into Acorns school so I am keen to give a good handover to them.

Hi Maggie,

Thankyou for sharing all of this information. It will really help us to support AR and his family as much as we can.

I have a meeting this morning with AR's parents, so I will see if they disclose information about the incident last week but as requested I won't bring it up and disclose that you have shared this information.

Kind Regards,

Hayley
